ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

Overview Tanta University is a public institution located in Egypt, established in 1962. For Indian students seeking an international medical education, this university provides a structured pathway to becoming a doctor. The MBBS programme at Tanta University is conducted with English as the medium of instruction, ensuring that students can engage with medical literature and clinical practice without a primary language barrier. Course Duration One of the most critical factors for Indian aspirants to consider is the timeline of their studies. The medical programme at Tanta University spans a total duration of 7 years. This extended timeframe allows for a comprehensive approach to medical training, though students should plan their financial and...
